

DARE TO MAKE AN IMPACT?

JOIN OUR DARING TEAM AS...

Cybersecurity Awareness Trainer - Full-time, part-time or job-sharing possible

Düsseldorf

WHAT YOU'LL DO

- Join our global cybersecurity team and work with us on current security topics
- You will be responsible for defining, developing and implementing our cybersecurity training portfolio worldwide
- In close professional exchange with internal colleagues, you will continuously analyze the current security situation, the latest developments in the market, and the respective training needs of our various internal target groups for cyber and information security
- You will develop new training products and training courses in various classic and innovative learning formats to meet training needs, update existing ones and measure their effectiveness
- You will be responsible for the implementation of our trainings globally, hold your own trainings and train selected colleagues as internal trainers for our topics
- You will learn from excellent colleagues and can make use of various training offerings to extend your skills and keep them up to date

WHAT MAKES YOU A GOOD FIT

- Bachelor's degree in IT, security, communication, marketing, education, or related topic
- Minimum 3 years of relevant professional experience in a similar role
- Dependable, cooperative working style with robust project management skills
- Creativity and experience with training formats beyond PowerPoint presentations
- Inspiring presenter, able to simplify technical topics for non-technical people
- Good at analyzing and structuring data and learning content
- Experienced in MS Office applications, SharePoint and social media
- Fluent in German and English language, Cybersecurity certifications would be a plus

Scan to visit our Careers website

At Henkel, we come from a broad range of backgrounds, perspectives, and life experiences. We believe the uniqueness of all our employees is the power in us. Become part of the team and bring your uniqueness to us!

